About two hundred men and women from various sections of Missouri poured into Maryville yesterday and today for the twenty-second annual encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans and auxiliaries.

The meeting got formally under way last night with a memorial service at the First M. E. Church. This morning, the convention settled down to work, the men meeting at the I. O. O. F. Hall and the women at the Elks Club.

The visitors were welcomed to Maryville by Mayor W. O. Garrett and to Nodaway County by Judge John M. Dawson. Both of these men spoke at the encampment meeting in the I. O. O. F. hall and to the auxiliary at the Elks Club.

"We not only welcome you here, but hope that you will return to Maryville next year or any year in the future," Mayor Garrett said.

Judge Dawson outlined the purposes and results of the Spanish-American War and said that Nodaway County felt the honor of having the convention here.

The business of the encampment meeting this morning was routine. It consisted of reports and the appointment of committees. Greeting delegations were sent from each organization to the other, and floral offerings were presented to the chairmen.

Francis Stevens of Webb City, chaplain, opened the encampment James W. Castanie, department commander for Missouri, presided at the meeting. Frank B. Dodds of Lawrence Kan., senior vice-commander in chief of the United States, attended the meeting. He is now acting commander in chief, as the highest officer of the national organization is out of the United States.

The following delegates registered at the Linville Hotel up to noon to-

Bottom Roads in Vicinity of Rosendale Reported Flooded—Heavy Wind Accompanies Rain

Total rainfall in Maryville last night measured .72 of an inch, according to J. R. Brink, official weather observer.

It is reported that rain south of Maryville was much more than this. Billy Tilson said this morning that the bottom roads in the vicinity of Rosendale were flooded and that cars had considerable difficulty getting through.

Heavy winds accompanied the rain last night and a number of tree limbs were blown down. One of the light globes on the northwest corner of the square was shattered and glass was scattered over the pavement.

ATTACHMENT SUIT IS FILED

JOHN CALLOWAY ASKS $1,500 FROM BARBER.

ALLEGES FAKE NOTE

Proceedings Taken To Seize Cattle And Other Stock Owned By Former Bank Cashier.

John Calloway brought an attachment suit late Saturday afternoon against Robert N. Barber, cashier of the defunct Northwestern Bank of Burlington Junction, who is now in the county jail on charges of embezzlement and forgeries of notes.

The suit is for $1,500 and the attachment was levied against cattle and some other stock belonging to Barber.

The petition states Barber sold to Calloway on April 15, 1924, a promissory note dated March 18, 1924, for $1,500 due in six months with a rate of interest at 8 per cent and the Northwestern Bank of Burlington Junction designated as payee purported to be signed by F. C. Manes, and Barber represented and stated to Calloway the note was a valid and subsisting obligation against Manes. The petition further alleges the signature of Manes was false and fraudulent and was not the true and proper signature of said Manes, and was committed for the purpose and design of cheating Calloway out of $1,500.

The petition asks for judgment of $1,500.

Two Arrested on Car Theft Charge

Quincy Hubbard and Lee Pate Accused of Stealing Automobiles of Joe Auer and Howard Masters.

Quincy Hubbard and Lee Pate were arrested at Quitman Saturday on a charge of stealing the cars of Joe Auer and Howard Masters Friday night. The arrests were made late Saturday afternoon and both Hubbard and Pate waived preliminary hearing this morning before Justice W. L. Johnson.

Hubbard was found in the old mill near the Burlington station at Quitman. The Masters car was found hidden in the weeds and brush near the Nodaway river near Quitman. Pate took the freight train Saturday from Quitman to Skidmore and then returned on the evening passenger train to Quitman, being arrested by U. S. Reavis of Burlington Junction, deputy sheriff, as he alighted from the train.

Sheriff Lowell B. Campbell received word Saturday that two men with a car which was thought to have been stolen were at Quitman. He sent U. S. Reavis of Burlington Junction, and Deputy Sheriffs John Rasco and Barney Dougan, and Officer Leo Atherton to Quitman late Saturday afternoon.

Hubbard claims he is 19 years old and gives Emporia, Kas., as his home. Pate says he is 21 years old and his home is in Palms, Cal. Pate is also wanted in St. Joseph for stealing tires.

Fire Destroys Barn in Workman Vicinity

The barn on the farm owned by Mrs. O. O. Wallace, ten miles northwest of Maryville, was struck by lightning and completely destroyed by fire sometime last night. The farm is operated by Charles T. Pierson.

The barn was partly insured. The fire also destroyed its contents—hay, implements and harness, and they, too, were partly insured.

The barn is about one-half mile east of the Workman Chapel.

THOUSANDS AT GREAT MASSES

SECOND DAY OF EUCHARISTIC CONGRESS UNDER WAY.

IN A PLEA FOR UNITY

Personal Representative Of Pope Pius Puts Forth Hand Of Universal Brotherhood Among Men.

Chicago, June 21.—With a gigantic open air mass, attended by more than 200,000 persons, including twelve cardinals and hundreds of other distinguished Catholic churchmen, the second day's program of the twenty-eighth international eucharistic congress, meeting for the first time in the United States, was launched today.

John Cardinal Bonzano, personal representative of Pope Pius XI, and eleven other cardinals attended the masses.

Addresses were made by Cardinal Von Faulhaber of Germany, Cardinal Dubois of France, Archbishop David Mannix of Melbourne and David I. Church, former United States Senator from Massachusetts.

This afternoon, the mammouth sectional meetings of the Congress, representing every corner of the globe, occupied the thousands of delegates.

A day of solemn service and pageantry, with many thousands attending masses in Chicago's more than 300 Catholic churches, inaugurated the Congress yesterday.

In officially opening the Congress, Cardinal Bonzano, delivering the Pope's message, sounded a plea for unity, putting forward the hand of universal brotherhood to all people which His Holiness groups as "our separated brothers."

Miss Gertrude Schmoldt returned yesterday from Junction City, Kan., where she was called a week ago Saturday by the death of her father, H. F. Schmoldt, which occurred June 11.

DAMAGE CASE BEFORE JURY

TESTIMONY IS BEGUN IN SUIT OF MRS. MINNIE PAXSTON.

INVOLVES $2,500 NOTE

Trust Company Says Money Was Paid To Her Agent.—Didn't Get It, She Declares.

A damage suit brought by Mrs. Minnie Paxston against the Gillam-Jackson Loan and Trust Co., was tried before a jury in Circuit Court today. It involves a note for $2,500 which Mrs. Paxston purchased from the trust company.

The note was made by William Williams in favor of the Trust company and was secured by a farm mortgage. It later was sold to Mrs. Paxston and after two years a new loan was negotiated, releasing the mortgage securing the first.

The attorneys for Mrs. Paxston declared in an opening statement that the note held by their client was paid to the trust company but that Mrs. Paxston received no money and that the mortgage was surrendered and canceled without her consent.

The defense attorneys declared that their evidence would show that Roy Hanna, former cashier of the First National Bank, had acted as agent for Mrs. Paxston, and that the money had been paid to him by the trust company. They pointed out that the trust company and the bank were entirely separate corporations and that the trust company had discharged its obligations in paying the money to Hanna. They explained that Williams did not acutlly pay off the note but that he exchanged it for one of larger denomination.

McCaffrey and Cook and Shinabargar, Blagg and Ellison are attorneys for Mrs. Paxston, while Cook and Cummins and A. F. Harvey represent the defendant trust company.

Mrs. Paxston, who lives near Bedford, appeared in court in a wheel chair.

The jury hearing the case is composed of John Porter, George Daniels, John Tulloch, Ralph Wray, C. G. Swinford, Ed Adkins, T. J. Tobin, S. P. Curnutt, Ed Malvern, G. H. Patterson, B. T. Wray and C. H. Caldwell.

Howard Bryant entered a plea of guilty to petit larceny and was fined $5 by Judge Park.

Other proceedings in circuit court today were:

Morris Plan Co. vs. R. R. Tame, notes, judgment for plaintiff for $660 at 8 per cent and attorney fees of $66.

Bankers Mortgage Co. vs. Charles P. Anderson, et al, notes, judgment by default set aside and cause dismissed.

T. C. Power & Bro., Ltd., vs. Tilden S. Craig, et al, attachment. Judgment by default for $3,044.23 and attorney fees of $316.65.

Elmer Wing et al vs. Phebe E. Smith, et al, partition, objection to report of sale sustained and sale set aside. Order of sale renewed.

Clarence B. Reed et al vs. Lottie Dunn et al, partition, sheriff's report of sale approved. The sheriff was ordered to execute deed and order of distribution as per form filed.

Congress Is Expected to Stay on Several Days

Opponents Of Administration's Plan For June 30 Adjournment Win Victory In House.

Washington, June 21.—Opponents of the administration's plan to adjourn Congress on June 30 won a victory in the House today when a motion by Representative Madden, Republican Illinois, to send the Snell adjournment resolution to the ways and means committee was adopted 190 to 134.

Possibility of Congress remaining in session until the rivers and harbors bill is acted on by the Senate was seen as a result.

REED MAKES FRAUD CHARGE

ALLEGES IRREGULARITIES IN PENNSYLVANIA.

CHANGE IN FINANCING

Subsidiary Committee Violates Law In Making No Return, Missourian Says.—Fisher To Stand.

Washington, June 21.—The first charge of irregularities in Pennsylvania's three-million-dollar Senatorial primary was made today before the Senate slush fund committee by Senator James A. Reed, Democrat of Missouri, chairman.

Reed said the financial committee of the Business Men's Committee of Philadelphia had violated the state election laws by accepting contributions to the Vare campaign fund without making a return to the secretary of the commonwealth.

This charge came during the examination of Albert M. Greenfield, Philadelphia real estate dealer and the angel of the Vare campaign, who said that his contribution to the Vare fund totaled $125,000. Greenfield explained that the financial committee of which Charles Tuft, president of the Metropolitan Trust Co., of Philadelphia, was chairman, was a subsidiary of the general Vare-Beidleman campaign committee and all the money was turned over to the general committee.

The financial committee came within the law, Reed said, but the law was violated because the committee's treasurer did not receive the money collected.

Greenfield had testified that Jules Mastbaum of Philadelphia, president of the Stanley Company of America, had given the committee a $10,000 check and $15,000 in cash.

Throughout the session, Reed and Greenfield clashed, particularly over the financial arrangement of the committee.

Washington, June 21.—John S. Fisher, the Mellon candidate for governor in Pennsylvania's costly primary campaign, was subjected to a still examination by the Senate slush fund committee this afternoon regarding campaign expenditures.

Prior to the campaign, Fisher said, he was counsel for the New York Central Railroad. He was the first candidate for a state office examined by the committee, which previously had devoted its attention to the Senatorial race.

RADICAL VOTE IS DISTURBING

GERMAN PRESS SEES SOCIALISTIC TREND.

DISPOSSESSION FAILS

Revolutionary Proposal Fails Of Necessary Majority.—Is Termed "Victory For Bolshevism."

Berlin, June 21.—Chancellor Marx, taking advantage of the defect of the plebiscite for the dispossession of former royalty today called into conference the various party leaders and immediately began consideration of a new compromise law for the return of the royal property to their owners.

The cry of bolshevism, which was raised by opponents of dispossession, is said to be largely responsible for the failure of the plebiscite, the rank and file of the Germans being fearful that a victory of the plebiscite would mean a repetition of events during the bolshevist reigme at Munich in the early days of the post-revolutionary period.

Leaders of the communist party were amazed at the heavy vote cast for dispossession, believing that the widespread abstention from the polls, which made the plebiscite ineffective, indicated a trend toward communism.

Berlin, June 21.—Although the movement for dispossession of the former German royalty has been defeated, the German press today regards the result as "a victory that is but little better than defeat."

Many newspapers declared that the great vote cast for dispossession is an "ominous victory for Bolshevism in Germany."

The proposal to seize the estate of the former royalty was defeated not by the votes against it but by abstention. In order to be effective, the plebiscite had to be approved by the majority of qualified voters. The plebiscite, therefore, became immediately invalid but the votes cast, nearly fifteen million were in favor of the dispossession and this is the fact that has worried many of the newspapers who indicated it as showing a strong trend toward socialism and communism.

"It is a tyrrhic victory and a solemn warning," the nationalist press declared.

Berlin, June 21.—German's first national referendum under the Republican constitution, held yesterday to decide the question of expropriating without compensation the entire properties and estates of the former rulers, with particular interest centering on the former German emperor and the Hohenzollern family, failed to poll an affirmative vote on half the eligible electors.

Final returns in the referendum: Affirmative 14,889,703; negative 542, 211.

The negative vote had no relation to the result, as the adoption of the measure depended on whether half the electorate, namely about 20 million voted affirmatively.

Fully 60 per cent of the eligible voters stayed away from the polls, while 35 per cent indorsed unconditional confiscation. Defective ballot and negative votes constituted only a small percentage.

Government Leaders Are Glad.

While admitting that the advocates of expropriation made a respectable showing in yesterday's balloting, government leaders visibly were gratified when final returns definitely presaged the measure's defeat.

Their satisfaction was prompted quite as much by internal political considerations as the feeling that the definite rejection of such a radical law will impress the outside world with the conservative character of the German electorate, regardless of the fact that the personal interests of the former princes were at stake.

The total vote rolled up in favor of complete confiscation was only about 2½ million in excess of that polled by the Socialists and Communists in the initial balloting last March on the question of whether a referendum should be held. The radicals therefore failed to recruit sufficient newcomers to make up the deficit of 7½ million.

Large Attendance at Auxiliary Meet

Seventy-Eight Women Register for Sessions at Elks Club—Bouquets Are Preesnted.

Seventy-eight women had registered this morning for the convention of the auxiliary of the United Spanish War Veterans. Practically all of them were from out of town.

The auxiliary met in closed session this morning at the Elks Club. Greetings to the men's meeting were conveyed by a committee composed of Mrs. Clara Hendricks, St. Louis, senior vice-president; Mrs. Julia Weis, St. Louis, past president; Mrs. Emma Evans, St. Louis, junior vice-president; and Mrs. Ruby A. Fryer, Maryville, president of the Theodore Roosevelt auxiliary here.

Commander Castanie was presented with a bouquet, and Mayor Garrett was given a silk flag. The greetings escorted the moyor, amid flags, from the men's convention to the auxiliary meeting, and he there repeated his address of welcome, to which Mrs. Hendricks responded.

Bouquets Presented.

The closing event of the morning was the visit of a greetings committee from the men's organization to the auxiliaries. This committee presented a bouquet to the department president, Mrs. Catherine Abrahams of St. Louis, and another bouquet was presented to the visiting women by the local auxiliaries of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

This afternoon the auxiliary joined the men in a parade and other events. Tonight they will participate in the Snaix banquet and jubilee at W. O. W. hall. Tomorrow they will be entertained at the Country Club by the local auxiliary. The luncheon will be followed by a bridge party, and a dance will be given at night.

The visitors declared today's convention of the auxiliary one of the best in its history.

Here For U. S. W. V. Convention

HERMAN A. FINKE
Past Dept. Commander, U. S. W. V.

Herman A. Finke of St. Louis, former department commander of the United Spanish War Veterans, who delivered a short address at the memorial services at the First M. E. Church last night. Mr. Finke instituted the local camp when it was organized about three years ago.

During Mr. Finke's administration the department of Missouri made a very substantial growth and several new camps were organized. Mr. Finke has always been active in connection with pension legislation for the Spanish War Veterans and was instrumental in having a clause inserted in the new pension bill recently passed eliminating what was known as the "ninety day clause" and providing that a soldier was entitled to a pension if discharged prior to the expiration of 90 days of service, provided the discharge was for the disabilities incurred in the service.

Mr. Finke was also the author of two bills introduced in the State Legislature providing relief for Spanish War Veterans, both of which however failed of passage.

Mr. Finke in civil life is a consulting engineer, President and director in several manufacturing and industrial companies and prominent in Chamber of Commerce work, being Publicity Chairman of the Wellston Chamber of Commerce and one of the speakers of the Missouri Association. He served in Cuba with the 6th Missouri Volunteer Infantry, is a member of the Veterans Foreign Wars and prominent in Masonic circles. Mr. Finke is being mentioned as a candidate for the office of Department Commander. He is one of the most active workers in the organization and was a candidate for commander-in-chief in 1924.

Mr. Finke spares no time or money in the upbuilding of the organization having on several occasions provided a special train or special car for Missouri delegates to National Encampments and personally furnishing the badges used at the First National Encampment of the organization at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition in 1904.

Vets Parade Is Held at 2 This Afternoon

Battery C Assists in Affair.—Automobiles Carry G. A. R. and Ladies Auxiliary Members.

The first event of the United Spanish American War Veterans convention this afternoon was the parade, which took place at 2 o'clock. The line of march was north from the Linville Hotel to the corner of Fourth and Main, east to Market, south to Third, and then back to the hotel.

The parade was led by Leo Atherton and Frank McKee, city officers. Next came Battery C, 128th Field Artillery, led by Capt. E. V. Condon and Lieut. Sam England. Two pieces and two caisons, drawn by horses were in the battery.

Following the soldiers, came three cars filled with members of the G. A. R., veterans of another war. Then came the departmental commander and his staff, followed by a ten-piece drum and bugle corps of veterans.

Two floats, representing the Snaix and the Lizards, play orders for veterans and their ladies, next came in line. The men were dressed as Fiji Islanders, or something akin to this, and the women resembled gypsies.

Eighteen cars, filled with auxiliary members, completed the parade.

United Nation One of War's Chief Results

North And South Merge In Fight For Cuba and Philippines, Veterans Art Told At Memorial Service.

A nation united as never before—that was one of the chief results of the war of '98, H. A. Finke, past department commander, told those at the memorial services last night in formally opening the twenty-second annual encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans and the sixth annual convention of the auxiliaries, at the First M. E. Church.

Soldiers of the North and of the South joined in the war for freedom—this time for Cuba and the Philippines, Mr. Finke said. In spite of the fact that this as well as all other wars in which America has engaged cost an enormous sum of money and many lives, the result accomplished has been well worth it all, he added.

Veterans of three wars attended the services here last night.

There were a few gray-haired survivors of the strife between the states, but only a few. There were a number of the veterans of the conflicts in Cuba, the Philippines and of the great World War.

Mr. Finke and Past National Chaplain Hendricks paid a short tribute to the dead of the two organizations. The women of the auxiliaries conducted a short but impressive candle service in memory of the dead.

Memory is a valuable thing to a person and to a nation Dr. C. C. James said in his memorial sermon. The memory links up the accomplishments of the past with hope for the future, Dr. James said. Only through memory can a person or nation revel in what has gone before and this alone is a priceless heritage, the minister added.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Conklin and the former's mother, Mrs. James Conklin, motored to Clarinda, Ia., yesterday.

Profits and the Employe

An employe of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), who, under the first Stock Purchasing Plan, initiated five years ago, invested $1,000 of his earnings, received this year stock to the value of $2,150. Thus, the man who invested $1,000 realized a profit of $1,150.

A safe investment, involving no risk, yielding a profit of 115%—that is the result of the financial opportunity offered by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), through its first Stock Purchasing Plan, to each of its 29,000 employes who had been in service for one year.

A new Stock Purchasing Plan, similar to the first, is now in effect.

The Stock Purchasing Plan means more than a purely financial opportunity to the employe. It makes him a partner in the business. The great purpose of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) becomes his purpose. Its creed of service becomes his creed of service.

The employe who makes himself a stock owner of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has a personal pride in every achievement of the Company.

It is a pardonable pride, for his best efforts are devoted to the work of the Company; his savings are a part of its capital, and his unwavering loyalty is a part of its staunch support.

Money earned by hard work and saved by careful thrift, invested in Standard Oil Company (Indiana) stock, implies a profound faith and loyal confidence in the Company.

Through the Stock Purchasing Plan the relationship between the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and its employes is strengthened and built firmly on a foundation of mutual co-operation. The state of interdependence that exists between them is emphasized.

The employe depends upon the Company for the great fundamental necessity, a life work—and for the sympathetic understanding and appreciation that make work a joy.

The Company depends upon the employe for creative power of mind and muscle, for faith and loyalty, and the enthusiasm that conquers every difficulty.

By helping individual employes to achieve greater security and success, through the Stock Purchasing Plan, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes that it is helping the organization itself to grow in efficiency and power, with resulting benefits accruing directly to the people whom it serves.

Rev. J. A. Cooper Will Return to Ministry

Former Maryville Pastor Will Leave Chautauqua Field And Hold Revival Meetings.

(Plattsburg Leader)

Clinton county friends of Rev. Joseph A. Cooper will be interested to learn that he has decided to leave the lecture platform and will return to the active ministry. During the summer he will conduct tent meetings in Wyoming under the direction of the state Baptist board, of which Rev. Joseph Jacobs, formerly of this section is superintendent. Later Dr. Cooper will probably accept the pastorate of some good church.

Since his world war work, Chaplain Cooper has been much in demand as a lecturer for lyceums and chautauquas. After resigning the pastorate of the Baptist church at Maryville, he taught for a time in the teachers college there, later giving all his time to lecturing.

His tent meeting work in Wyoming will give him a delightful summer. The congregation that secures him as pastor will be fortunate.

Smoke From Stove Is Cause of Fire Alarm

Smoke from a stove in the front room over the Real Estate Bank building, occupied by George Mulholland, caused a fire alarm to be turned in about 9:15 o'clock this morning. Mr. Mulholland was making a fire in the stove which had become stopped up. The room was filled with smoke but there was no damage.

Convention Notes

Delegates to the convention were in a good humor this morning at headquarters at the Linville Hotel. A chair in the hotel lobby was made "hot" with an electric current, much fun was had at the expense of those who were persuaded to sit in it.

Veterans who wore straw hats were inconvenienced by the high wind today. One man reached for a hat which had blown from a comrade's head, and while he reached, his own went flying down the street.

The city of Maryville is owner of a beautiful American flag, presented today to Mayor W. O. Garrett by the ladies' auxiliary.

The high wind this morning nearly swept away a slight, rather frail appearing woman who carried the flag as the Auxiliary marched down the street this morning. At Third and Main streets it seemed almost sure that she must give up the battle. But, declining help, she showed the indomitable spirit displayed by the Veterans themselves in Cuban campaigns and carried the colors triumphantly on. She was Mrs. Anna Mason of St. Louis.

Mexico, Mo., Editor Says Indications Point To Nomination of "Rural Candidate" For Court.

H. E. Rixey, editor of the Mexico Intelligencer, was in Maryville today in the interest of the candidacy of Judge Ernest S. Gantt of Mexico for the Democratic nomination for judge of the supreme court. Mr. Rixey says the indications point to the nomination of Judge Gantt. He has strong rural support as well as good support from St. Louis and Kansas City.

Recently the Democratic members of the St. Louis bar association indorsed Judge Gantt for supreme court. The referendum vote among the Democratic lawyers of that city was: Judge Gantt, 79; Carl L. Ristine of Lexington, 26; Mark A. McGruder of Sedalia, 6.

Mr. Rixey will put up placards of Judge Gantt over Northwest Missouri.

School District Has Lapsed, Petition Says

Action in Circuit Court Says Eight Months School Has Not Been Given in Bristle Ridge Vicinity.

A suit to declare school district No. 118 lapsed was filed in Circuit Court today by the state, "ex informantione." Ed Allen, Samuel Allen and Catherine Brady, directors, are named party defendants.

District No. 118 is known as Bristle Ridge. It is in Jefferson township, southeast of Bedison. The petition filed this morning states that during the school years of 1924-25 and 1925-26 an eight-months term of school was not provided, although a levy of 40 cents on the $100 valuation, together with the public funds and cash on hand, would have been "ample."

It states also that no annual meeting of the patrons of the district was held and that the directors were not duly elected.

Sheriff Lowell B. Campbell was notified that a warrant had been issued for Smith and that Sheriff Maupin would come after them tonight. The girl is under age, it was stated.

History of United Spanish War Veterans Dates Back to Before Men Were Mustered Out

(With apologies to W. D. Tucker, National Historian).

The desire among those who served in the war with Spain, the Insurrection in the Philippine Islands and the Boxer Uprising to form associations in order to perpetuate the memories of the service life, and comradeship created in that time, manifested itself even before the muster out of a part of the regiments in the late fall of 1898 nad more strongly after the balance were mustered out in the spring of 1899. With the subsequent organization of the two year volunteer regiments for service in the Philippine Islands and after their discharge, the demand became so insistent that many organizations sprung into existence all over the country. Some of these organizations were company affairs, some regimental and some were of state-wide and national scope, in fact there are a number of claims made that organizations were perfected even before the muster out of the regiments in 1898.

A few efforts were made that were largely national in scope and character; although in Massachusetts a splendid society (Legion of Spanish War Veterans) was organized during the year 1899, all of the subdivisions of which were located within the borders of that state.

In the movement to create a National Organization, there were different leaders in various localities, and widely divergent opinions as to name, declaration of principles, forms and ceremonies and other matters, all of which resulted in the organization of three distinct National Societies which were termed "Spanish War Veterans," "Spanish-American War Veterans," and "Service Men of the Spanish War."

These societies were all finally patterned in essentilas after the "Grand Army of the Republic," and served a high purpose in bringing before the eligibles in different parts of the country the importance of the war in which they had been engaged, and of the organization for the purpose of herein before indicated, and the inculcation of patriotic principles. Too much credit cannot be given to the pioneers in this movement, who, amid many discouragements persevered in the work and enrolled in the various societies a large number of those who served in the war with Spain and, in due time, many who had seen service in the Philippines and in China, thus laying a solid foundation upon which was built up the National Organization as it now exists.

But the men affiliated in these societies, all of whom had served under one National Flag, did not take long to decide that the commemoration of that service should be made and continued under the banner of one National Organization. In accordance with this sentiment and through the untiring efforts, wise counsels and comradely concessions of the members of the joint committee, and particularly of Comrades Harold C. Megrew, William F. English and George M. Moulton, Commanders-in-Chief respectively of the "Spanish War Veterans," "Spanish-American War Veterans" and "Service Men of the Spanish War," these three societies were united on April 18, 1904, under one name and one government.

The name chosen for the amalgamated organization was "The United Spanish War Veterans," and this name, although, in the opinion of many, less to be preferred than the name of any one of the original societies, has been continued and will doubtless endure to the end.

In 1907 the organization welcomed into the ranks the Massachusetts "Legion of Spanish War Veterans." The "Legion" as it was familiarly called, was organized along the same lines as its contemporaneous national associations, and its subordinate subdivisions which were termed 'Camps," were recruited mainly from volunteers who had formed the quota of that Commonwealth in the war with Spain. The "Legion" became the Department of Massachusetts, U. S. W. V., and is second only to the Department of New York in total membership.

In 1908 the "Veteran Army of the Philippines," a society composed of men who were serving or who had seen active service in the Islands and formed on the same lines as the "Legion," sought and gained admission in the National Organization as a department of eight camps. From the beginning the officials of the National Headquarters (wherever located) have used their best endeavors to promote the interests of our comrades in the Philippines and, from the beginning, the Department has performed its duty to the organization.

Tw societies, the members of which served in the same war, and which are professedly national in scope and character, still remain outside our portals. These societies are called the "Army of the Philippines," (composed of former commissioned officers who had service in the Islands) and the "American Vetgrans of Foreign Service," which at the time of the amalgamation in 1904 had practically ceased to exist. This latter society let the bars down to the home-coming veterans of the world war in 1919 and took on a new lease of life by the influx of several thousand world war veterans. It is now known as the "Veterans of Foreign Wars.' Many of their members are affiliated with the U. S. W. V., and it is hoped that those who have been disgruntled will return to the fold. Merging of the two organizations could not only be accomplished by the removal of the service overseas restrictions against the men who served in the states and by a return to the American Legion on the part of those who served in the world war.

John K. Sawyers, jr., An Ohio Candidate

Former Maryville Boy Seeks Nomination for Prosecuting Attorney in Father's Old Home

John K. Sawyers, jr., a former Maryville boy, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Sawyers, sr., is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for prosecuting attorney in Monroe County, Ohio. He is opposed by the present incumbent, and a letter from him states that, "while making no rash predictions, it is my sincere expectation to come out on top, and early indications point that way." The Ohio primaries are to be held August 10.

Mr. Sawyers now is practicing law at Woodsfield, Ohio. He went there from Akron, Ohio, the first of January to become the junior partner in the firm of Lynch and Sawyers.

"My partner," Mr. Sawyers writes, "is the dean of the local bar and was formerly associated in the practice with his son, W. B. Lynch, in the law firm of Lynch and Lynch. His son's unexpected death opened the way for me and I am here in my father's old home community and getting along extremely well, considering the limited time in which I have been in the active practice of the law in Ohio."

Mr. Sawyers' father and mother, his two brothers, Henry and Harold Sawyers, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Harold Sawyers, are in Woodsfield now, having arrived there by motor a week ago Saturday after an enjoyable four days trip from Maryville. Before returning to Missouri, they intend to visit several places in Ohio and Pennsylvania and to attend the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia. They expect to spend several weeks in Ohio and the East.

Elmer McKee and I. V. Moore of Harmony spent today in Maryville.

Dr. J. Owen Murrin of Atchison, Kan., spent yesterday in Maryville with his father, John Murrin.

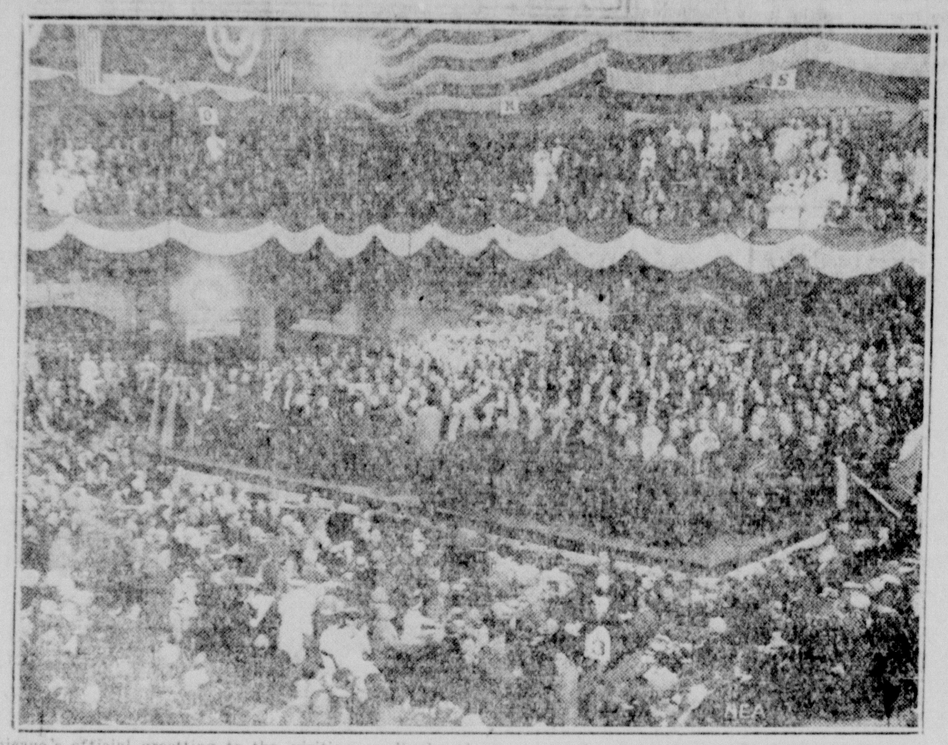
Chicago's Official Greeting to Cardinals



Chicago's official greeting to the visiting cardinals who went to the city for the Eucharistic congress was delivered at a vast mass meeting in the Coliseum, scene of so many national political conventions. On the platform is shown Cardinal Bonzano, papal legate, standing in the center in front of the throne chair, with eight other cardinals grouped about him and state, city and federal officials standing behind them.

ROADS BETTER THAN SCHOOLS

SUPT. LEE ATTACKS MISSOURI POLICY IN KANSAS SPEECH.

SPENDING MUCH MORE

State Provides But $2,000,000 a Year for Schools as Against $33,000,000 for Highways, He Declares.

Pittsburg, Kan., June 21.—Missouri is building good roads and neglecting the school system, Charles A. Lee, state superintendent of schools, asserted in a speech here yesterday.

"The success of any city in any state depends primarily upon the educational advantages, not roads," the Missouri official declared. "Of course, good roads are a wonderful thing but Missouri is paying much more for roads than for schools.

"In one year the state spent 33 million dollars for good roads and the same year spent 3 million dollars for schools. I will live in hope of a day when the state will pay as much attention to its schools as it now is paying to its roads. Surely such a day must come."

Mr. Lee was one of the speakers at the State Teachers College, where the rural education departments' community week is being observed.

"Money spent on good roads is money well spent, but that spent for educational purposes is much more important," Mr. Lee said.

"Some time ago I received a letter from the Montana state school superintendent stating that Montana was spending $45 a year a child, based upon daily average attendance. He wanted to know what Missouri was doing for schools. What could I say?

"Missouri must assume its share of the cost of public education. In the year that 33 million dollars was spent on roads by the state, 35 million dollars was spent for education, but the state only furnished 3 million dollars of that amount.

"Were Missouri to assume its full share of financial responsibility for schools, so that teaching standards could be raised and a centralization program carried on in the rural districts, the amount furnished by it would be greatly in excess of 3 million dollars."

"Anyone," he concluded, "can see the need of more attention to rural schools by driving a short distance in Missouri. Why, coming from Joplin, I passed two dinky school buildings, hardly worthy of the name, but the roads were exceptionally good."

UNDER THE CAPITOL DOME

Place of Women in Politics.

By PAUL R. MALLON

Washington, June 19.—Recent primary campaigns and other political activities of the last few weeks have developed the place of women in politics.

Even to an extent greater than in the last presidential campaign, women have organized their votes in states throughout the country that their new suffrage might be represented at the polls.

The development was strikingly illustrated in the recent Pennsylvania contest where all three candidates had separate women's organizations with women workers in charge. Senator George Wharton Pepper, unsuccessful incumbent, claimed to have 8,000 women at the polls as workers on election day in the city of Philadelphia alone. The feminine contingent of the other candidates was smaller in number but the effect of their presence was felt.

Interest among women at the polls ran so high that one quite prominent case was reported to Philadelphia police that a woman working in the interests of one of the senatorial candidates had been set upon by two women working for another candidate, with disastrous results to the hair, face and eyes of the three partisans concerned.

Mrs. Clyde B. Aitchison, president of the Political Study club in a speech here recently said:

"Women are seeking facts on national issues, political questions and government politics. To this end they have organized study clubs, and converted the 'culture clubs' of yesterday into organizations dealing with problems which they must face at the polls."

Mrs. Aitchison is working for organization of more study clubs, it being her belief that the first purpose of women in politics is "to obtain first hand information if possible on matters affecting the welfare of the nation, and to learn the opinions of those who are regarded as authoritative."

The United States is still behind some other nations in giving women places in congress. The German Reichstag recently elected, gave 33 women posts out of a total membership of 493.

The House of Representatives here has 435 members and only 3 women.

The question of how a congresswoman should be addressed by her colleagues on the floor of the house is puzzling parliamentarians a little.

Some time ago Mrs. Julius Kahn of California made her maiden speech. She was recognized by Speaker Nick Longworth as "the gentlewoman from California."

Later when Mrs. John Jacob Rogers of Massachusetts followed with her first effort, Rep. Snell, acting as speaker pro tem referred to Mrs. Rogers as "the lady from Massachusetts."

In the debate which followed she was referred to as "the gentlewoman" by Rep. Dowell of Iowa, but as "the lady" by Rep. Begg Ohio, and Blanton, Texas.

Benton—Southeast Missouri Day, with speeches on the future development of this section of Missouri, will be held here on June 24. There will be music and other entertainment.

Tuscumbia—A community picnic will be conducted on July 23 and 24 to raise funds for completion of the Tuscumbia school building.

Potosi—A special election has been called in this city for July 6 to vote on a proposition of issuing $37,500 in bonds for a waterworks system. Fire equipment will be included in the bond issue.

Chillicothe—A crucifix bearing the date 1608 has been found on Rattlesnake Hill near here. It is believed it was lost by a Spanish cavalier. The figures are outlined in gold.

The BOBCAT

BY HENRY C. ROWLAND

BLUE RIBBON FICTION Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

SYNOPSIS.

Big Tim Burke, real estate operator, and known to his associates as a land pirate, discharges one of his young lieutenants called Pol Gailliard, because he is irritated by the latter's sleekness of appearance and nonchalant manner. Pol learns that his ex-boss covets a desirable piece of Long Island property owned by Prof. Husted, and that another land shark, Michael Cadrigan, is after the same bit of land. Cadrigan lives on the shore of Long Island sound with his stepdaughter, Veronica. His estate is across the bay from that of Prof. Husted, who lives like a hermit; Veronica is his only visitor. Cadrigan asks Veronica to discontinue calling on the old man, intimating that the old man's enemies may harm her. Noticing a sloop anchored opposite the house, Veronica suggests to her stepfather that they call on the owner. They are invited on board and their host introduces himself as Pol Gailliard, posing as an itinerant poet and artist. That night Pol runs over to the Husted house, and while ashore sees a man in a flat bottomed boat cut his sloop adrift. He rows back to his boat and releases his second anchor. On his return to shore he meets Veronica in a canoe, coming from Prof Husted's house. The next night they meet at the professor's house.

INSTALLMENT XIII.

SCUTTLED

The professor made a gesture of disparagement. "My property is flanked by a colony of Sicilians and Neopolitans, who have purchased their little homes. Many of them are mortgaged—I believe to Mr. Cadrigan, who employs their labor. They know the value of my tract for rich estates, and if it were broken up for the laying out of such, their own holdings would increase tremendously in value. Besides, there would be an abundance of well paid work and other emoluments. I am regarded as an obstacle to this, so naturally they desire my removal."

Pol nodded. "To what extent have these annoyances progressed?" he asked.

"Vague threats, Mr. Gailliard. Anonymous warnings. Accusations of being a malign influence, possessed of the evil eye. The poisoning of two watchdogs sent me by this dear child. An attempt to fire this scrubby woods. Breaking my boundaries and stealing my skiff."

Pol reflected, then shook his head. "All of that might happen if these people believe it, but not otherwise. Their respect of proprietorship is as strong as their superstitions, and all Latin races have a gentle sentiment for—" he checked himself.

The hermit turned his fine head and gave him a searching look. "Spoken like a savant, Mr. Gailliard. My own idea."

Veronica broke in impatiently. "What difference does the motive make when this sort of thing is going on?" she asked.

"The matter of principle, my dear. If I knew myself for a malign influence, it would be a different thing. On the contrary, I am benign." He looked at Pol. "I am at present occupied in an attempt to versify the Old Testament. Solitude is essential for such an effort. Why should I want to leave the home of my ancestors or break it up and sell it? The rents of some other property I inherited provide me with all the money I shall ever need. I have no kinsfolk. I do not think that cutting your boat adrift was to remove a possible protector. The chances are that it is thought the act might be ascribed to me. Possibly subject me to more annoyance."

"Can't the authorities do something for you?" Pol asked. "You pay taxes and are entitled to protection."

"The taxes on unimproved real estate are small, Mr. Gailliard. The whole community resents my locking up this tract. The local merchants and purveyors, the whole town, in fact, would be delighted to have my property opened up and"—his luminous eyes twinkled, not maliciously but mirthfully—"the whole town can go to perdition. As I see it, the direct descendant of men who cleared this land and defended it and made it habitable has a right to dwell on it as long as he sees fit, and as modestly as pleases him, Mr. Gailliard."

"You are right, Prof. Husted," said Pol. It struck him then, as he scanned the clean cut, lofty features and clear, wholesome skin that this tenure might easily be for another quarter of a century, if undisturbed by violence, and that as a real estate proposition Husted's point did not promise any immediate manipulation.

"I must go," Veronica looked despairingly at Pol. "You seem so ingenious, isn't there anything you can suggest to relieve my mind about the professor?"

"Yes," said Pol.

"Well, what?"

"That Prof. Husted make a will leaving all the property to something that the town will abominate, if he dies or is obliged to leave it within the next ten years. A home for indigent incurables—or he might build a fish oil factory near the neck. There are plenty of perfectly legal ways to make himself a real pest instead of a negative and harmless target for petty persecution."

The professor turned and surveyed him with wonder, then threw back his head in a silent laugh. "Did I understand you to be a poet, Mr. Gailliard?"

"It is possible to be a pungent one."

"Your idea is worth considering, Mr. Gailliard. As you may be aware, I have spent the last ten years of my life in a retreat, for certain excellent reasons of my own. But if I were to follow your suggestions, I might find myself back there again for excellent reasons of other people."

"That also is possible, Prof. Husted. Still there might be a way of managing the business."

"I should like to discuss it with you further. But we must not keep this dear child. She does wrong to come."

He rose, and they moved to the back door. It opened inward, and as the professor drew it back the soft glare of the lamp from the sitting room struck upon its panels.

Veronica stifled a little shriek. The dingy white had, while they talked, been decorated with a crimson dagger, almost the length of a sword, well executed. The fresh paint, running a little from its pointed extremity, gave the startling impression of dripping blood.

"You see?" whispered Veronica.

"A bit of cheek," Pol muttered.

"Painted daggers never killed anybody, Mr. Gailliard," said the professor calmly.

He went out with them, and they walked round the house toward the little beach. The moon was by this time up, and the sky of deepest velvet pricked out by faint stars. Pol glanced in the direction of his sloop, or rather he glanced in the direction where he had left it, for there was no sloop.

He gave an exclamation of dismay. "I've been cut adrift again."

Veronica clasped her hands. The spot where the sloop had been was dazzlingly bright, a broad splash of silver, the water absolutely calm. Staring at it, she and Pol made the same discovery simultaneously. The mast was sticking up like a spar buoy, but erect instead of slanting.

"Good Lord!" Pol gasped. "They've scuttled her," and he showed himself to be a man of heart by crying in an anguished voice, "My cat!"

The professor began to rumble something that had a scriptural sound and yet was not scared, then said, "That is going a step too far."

Pol glanced at him, and was a little startled at the expression of his patriarchal face. Moses might have looked that way when he strode down the slopes of Sinai to find his people worshipping the golden calf.

"It's all my fault, wailed Veronica.

"Nothing of the sort," said Pol.

"First I went with father to call on you. Then brought you here. Father's no more popular than the professor, but they're afraid of him."

"I have a notion," said the professor, "that before long they may have cause to be afraid of me." His cavernous voice boomed out ominously. "But I shall have to act through an intermediary for the reasons stated. Perhaps you will be willing to officiate in that capacity, Mr. Gailliard?"

"I should be enchanted."

"Then for the present please consider yourself my guest."

The canoe and duckling skiff were undisturbed. But on the after half-deck of the latter was painted another red stiletto. Pol helped Veronica into her canoe, then got into his dinghey.

"I shall see you safely to your house," he said, "then come back to accept Prof. Husted's hospitality."

Veronica demurred, but Pol ignored her protest.

Billion Dollar Utility Merger Is Announced

Hundreds of Cities in Nine States to Be Served by Consolidation of Middewest Utilities Co.

Chicago, June 21.—A billion dollar utility merger, combining the resources of the Insell, Studebaker and McKinley interest is to be effected.

Hundreds of cities in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, and Oklahoma will be served by the new firm which will be a consolidation of the Middlewest Utilities Company, the North American Company, and the North American Power and Light Company.

Announcement of the merger late yesterday, was viewed in Chicago financial circles as the most important transfer of proverty in this territory for several years. The three merging companies represent a total capitalization of more than $1,000,000,000 and the gross earnings of these firms last year was estimated at $200,000,000.

Although definite plans of the consolidation have not been worked out, it is understood in financial circles that it will mean the final retirement of Senator William B. McKinley of Illinois of active participation in the utility business. He has long been one of the controlling owners of the North American Power and Light Company and his electric transaction system in central and southern Illinois the largest concern of its kind in the world.

Samuel Insull, who has been extending his interest with amazing rapidity during the past few years, and Clement Studebaker, jr., are expected to control the billion dollar company.

Steele—Ground has been broken for a new cotton gin. It will be ready for use by September 1. This will make six gins here and likely will relieve the congested condition in ginning.

Ridgeway—Harvesting of bluegrass seed is under way in Harrison County. A crew of 40 men is being employed at one farm to strip the grass by hand. Boys are earning $6 to $8 a day.

Marshall—Approval by the Government of the Missouri River improvement budget will release about $760,000 for work near the Saline County border. One of the U. S. engineers lives here.

Lee's Summit—Free mail delivery service for this city has been granted by the Government and will begin about September 1.

Poplar Bluff—An alligator 18 inches long was caught on a bank of the Black River here by three men. This is the first time such an animal has been captured in this section of the State.

BRIAND TAKES UP TASK ANEW

FORMER PREMIER TO TRY FOR COALITION CABINET.

HERRIOT HAS FAILED

And Financial Circles In French Capital Express Gratitude—Poincare May Have Part.

Paris, June 21.—Aristide Briand plunged again today into the cauldron of French politics with renewed confidence in his ability to set up an enduring government.

Briand resumed the task upon the invitation of President Doumergue after Edouard Herriott, leader of the socialists, confessed that the job was too much for him. Herriot had about two days to sound out parliamentary leaders.

Briand is apparently concentrating his attention upon former president Poincare to whom it is generally known he has offered the financial portfolio. Briand spent ninety minutes in consultation with Poincare this morning. Upon leaving, Poincare refused to say whether or not he had accepted the invitation to enter the cabinet.

Briand's aim, according to observers, is to set up a government which will have the allegiance of all parties. Through Poincare, he hopes to secure the co-operation of the right, and through former premier Painleve, of the left. Briand, himself, will represent the center.

Herriot's failure was received with unconcealed satisfaction throughout the French capital, particularly in financial circles. The press, hostile to the radical leader at the outset, expressed gratification over the fact that Briand would once more be able to try his hand at the task.

Ford Is Optimistic Because Many Know Folly Buying on 'Tick'

Detroit, Mich., June 21.—Henry Ford is optimistic over the business outlook because so many people have come to realize the folly of paying for purchases of "tick" he said in an interview to the United Press today.

"If there is anything worng with the country today," Fard said, "it is the debt situation and our 'money system.'

"People are waking up to the fact that they are paying for too many 'dead horses,' instead of first saving their money and then making their purchases.

"As a nation we have not bought our goods—we have been 'sold' under pressure. When you absorb a man's income through installment payments, you slow up business because you have destroyed his purchasing spirit.

"My optimism for the future is based on the fact that so many people now realize the situation. They see that business done on that basis often results in ultimate payments of 33 per cent above cash value.

"The creation of debt in this country is an industry and the interest profit on debt is higher than the manufacturing profit on."

General business conditions, Ford said, ought to continue healthy if people will continue to do progressively better work on their jobs. To further stimulate production, he said, he planned "again to reduce prices and to improve the quality of our output."

Coincident with this statement, the Ford Motor company announced a further reduction in its prices.

"Prices have been to high," Ford asserted, "and the only way to move produce is to raise the quality and cut the price."

Asked his opinion concerning the recent rises in the price of stocks, Ford reiterated his familiar position that he "knew nothing about the stock market," but added: "Stocks have a lot in common with slot machines. They are geared up to beat you.

And if there has been a new high water mark in stocks it simply means that there will be a new low water mark in peoples' pockets."

"Stocks do not reflect the actual status of industry," he said.

Ford endorsed the stand of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon on 'farm relief,' saying: "Our farmers have too much back bone to want anything proximating charity.

"The only relief for farmers is to improve the business of farming and if a surplus is raised, much of it can be converted into valuable by-products such as motor fuel which can then be used for power purposes on the farm."

Discussing the future of the automotive industry Ford said he believed further developments would center on "simplification and better cars."

"The industry is far from the saturation point," he said, "and much foreign pioneering remains to be one in such countries as South America, India, Africa, China and Russia, where the necessity for transportation is paramount.

"And don't forget America," he added.

Ford was particularly outspoken in his condemnation of the present money system. He characterized 'brokers' as 'parasites,' contributing nothing constructive to the work of the world."

"America needs to be knocked out of this debt-habit," he repeated "and the indication that people are waking up to this fact is the basis of my optimism."

Mrs. W. J. Choss and little son, Billy, of Enid, Okla., who have been visiting Mrs. Cross' mother, Mrs. Laura Biscoe, and other relatives, for six weeks, left this morning for their home.

Thomas Elders, colored, was called to Gallatin last night by the death of a sister, which occurred Saturday evening.

Mrs. Etta Fanning and children left this morning for their home at Mercer after several weeks' visit with Mrs. Fanning's parents-in-law, the Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Fanning of Quitman. Miss Elsie Fanning accompanied them home for a visit.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, June 21.—All grains closed lower on the Chicago Board of Trade today in sympathy with the sharp slump in wheat prices. The fact that traders were more inclined to watch the cash prices than the futures also contributed to today's dip.

Although wheat was not very active, it closed sharply lower in all positions. The news of rains over the Southwest grain belt did not carry much weight in view of the large receipts at Kansas City and other points. The Northwestern rains were naturally a bearish feature. Other factors contributing to the sag in price level were the lower cash markets, Hutchinson, Kan., being 4 cents lower and Wichita 5 cents off while the old crop cash prices were 3 cents lower here and slightly off at Minneapolis, though steady at Kansas City because of the small stocks there.

July corn closed at 69½c, a low mark on the crop and other positions were also fractionally lower than Saturday's closing figures. This grain was under pressure most of the day.

Oats was easier today and closed sharply lower in all positions. There was also a big sag in the rye prices, which are now again close to the levels they maintained for weeks.

Provisions closed lower because of the break in wheat and hog prices.

Picnics play havoc with clothes. But our long experience as expert cleaners and dyers has taught us how to remove the stains and dirt from your garments and return them to you looking as fresh as when they were new.
